10. And of preserving the integrity of the Union, and the supremacy of the Constitution and laws passed in pursuance thereof, against the conspiracy of the lead ers of a sectional party to resist the majority principle as establish by this government, even at the expense of its existence.

The first ground of opposition, it seems to us would have teen all sufficient, and had we had the authority, we would have limited the call to this comprehensive proposition, for it is broad enough to combine all the elements of hosnity to the riding dynasty, which is little more than of maladministration and hersy against the Constitution and our institutions as establish lished by the fathers. But as the authors of the call have deemed it wise to amply fy somewhat, let us look into these specifi cations, and see what they really mean.

Everybody will understand the first and second specifications. Open and unblush ing corruptions and usurpations constitute the very existence of the Administration policy, and the only way to save our institutions from positive and final destruction is to drive the dynasty out of power with a universal shout of indignation. It has earned the wages of political sin, and nothing remains but to discharge the obligation. Let it be consigned speedily to the pslitical death that it merits.

The third and tourth propositions, it will he seen, embrace good old Henry Clay Whig doctrines on this subject. And though the Black heresy that the Constitution plants slavery by its ollowing song was sung by the rejoiced own inherent power in the Territories, had not yet reared its black bead distinctly above the horizon, yet Mr Clay foresaw it and met it on a hundred occasions, in his public speeches directly and indirectly, with withering denunciations and irrevistible demonstrations of its unsoundness .-But we are content to rest the fallacy of this outrageous doctrine upon the Hon Reverdy Johnson's recent arguments against it.
